Talking Points for Nonpublic School Transportation

- Nonpublic school transportation must currently be provided at $884.00 per student or less. The ceiling has not been raised since the 2007-2008 school year and continues at that figure under the Governor's proposed Budget for Fiscal Year 2018.
- Most nonpublic school transportation is provided by private bus companies. Many of the companies either do not bid on a route at $884.00 or less or have already indicated that they can only bid at a higher rate.
- Without transportation, parents are often unable to get their children to school, even though an aid-in-lieu amount is paid to the parent for $884.00. Many of these parents work two and three jobs in order to cover the nonpublic school tuition. When a bus route is cancelled because of the bid ceiling, many nonpublic school students are forced to transfer to a public school at greater taxpayer expense. It is important to note that no public school student is ever denied transportation as a result of the cost.
- It would be possible to shift money from another Budget account that is over-funded and transfer it to the cost of increasing nonpublic school transportation. Districts and private bus company operators indicate that the reason for their inability to run a route at or below the maximum per-pupil amount is that, in spite of reductions in fuel costs in recent years, drivers' salaries and insurance premiums have increased.

The effort to increase the ceiling for nonpublic school transportation can be made in various ways including class projects for letter writing and visits to appropriate legislators.

Any trips to Trenton made between now and June by individual classes should include an opportunity to speak to legislators about the status of nonpublic school transportation.
